Sculptural Side Table

There is something almost architectural about a table that is taller than it is wide, and it was precisely that sense of vertical drama that drove the design of The Sculptural Side Table. I wanted to create something with the poise of a stem and the quiet authority of a plinth, a piece that earns its place in a room not through decoration but through pure proportion. Four hand-forged legs, each one tapered to a fine point, rise from the floor with a reed like slenderness before meeting a circular collar that cradles the top with understated precision. The subtle hammered texture running the length of each leg catches the flamed bronze finish beautifully, adding a warmth and complexity to the surface that makes this far more than a simple occasional table. Topped with a round limestone slab whose soft, natural grain complements the bronze work perfectly.

All pieces from our Somerset studio, are handmade to order to your exact specifications and available in bespoke sizes with a choice of finishes and tops.
